Something crazy that happened to me since high school was:

While traveling in Thailand (July, 1996) I cut three fingers, get a head wound and break my arm on three consecutive days. I spent 36 hours getting to a hospital the day I broke my arm. A week later my arm had to be re-set. Ouch! "The Full-Moon Party" was not worth all that pain!

My passion is: Spending time with friends on land and at sea

Something crazy that happened to me since high school was:

I've become responsible! I learned how to fix things around my place. I can actually set up stereo components, computer hardware, programming electronic components (that is fun to mess with). In addition, I now have a new appreciation for home improvement projects, tools and toolboxes.

My passion is: I still love to draw and do artsy things, pretty much the same things I've always liked. More recently I developed a passion for home improvement projects. I'm in the process of upgrading parts of my condo, and it is quite a long, tiresome, but fun and rewarding project. This has spawned my interest of collecting different tools and now I even have a real toolbox! But as always I love talking, sharing and getting in trouble with my old and new friends.

After high school I attended Cuesta for two years & got my AA. I lived in San Luis until '98, which is when my life took an unexpected turn. I moved to Chicago on a whim for what I thought would be a few months, and have yet to return! I work at a legendary Chicago rock venue called the Metro, which is where I met my dreamy musician boyfriend of two years, Adam. Since living in Chicago I've also made my big screen debut as an extra in the movie High Fidelity, sharing the screen with John Cusack for an unimpressive two seconds. While I definitely miss San Luis occasionally (especially in the midst of the harsh Chicago winter!), I love city life. I come home to visit a couple times a year, and still remain close with many friends from high school (and earlier!).

Jenny Wilton Cabbab

Something crazy that happened to me since high school was:

Nothing really crazy has happened to me but I have done some crazy things. Such as bungee jumping! I was at this carnival with a bunch of friends and this guy was telling me if you jump I'll jump. He also offered to pay the $75 so I couldn't pass up on the "free" jump. As he finally realized that I was actually going to do it he started to get second thoughts. At the last second he backed out! I tried to talk my other friend and my husband who was my boyfriend at the time to jump with me. Everybody was chicken! So I went up to this good looking guy and asked him if he wanted to jump with me...he agreed. So my friend who was all talk ended up having to pay for me and my new friend to make the jump. When I got to the top I briefly had a change of heart but it was too late. The jump was awesome, scary, and thrilling! And when it was all said and done I had something to brag about all night!
